NY- I sent a rent check to landlord who then claimed non-payment. I sent a new check. He cashed it, then cashed the first check a few month later. I paid twice for the same month. Is this fraud? Criminal? where to report him. He's trying to evict me and the court case is ongoing.

Has anyone here managed to get any substantial passive income? Other

Youtube and Google are kind of useless for this, you just end up with people either humble bragging or trying to sell you something.

What kind of things would it take to eventually get to $2k-$3k per month of passive income? Aside from something like buying a $1 million office block and renting it out? (i'd need a mortgage to cover the deposit, let alone the rest of it :P)

OP's FIL ignores "no guns in the house" rule so hard that he doesn't see a problem with a 15 month old finding & playing with one.
